tion that I thought would be agreeable to letters to Jesse & my dear mother welcome reception my aim was to have withy. I was & so I say say for the rest had been afflicted again but rather the young man I hope by this time than at I have felt afraid she would not be some of thy expressions were read thought many things to lively remember we were of a more serious nature the your mothers condition was tendering it was a little singular that they go old both taken in that way I have Death but in all probability she is not I want to see thee worst kind but alas rest passed and my prospect now is I shall not reducing my confinement I have looked leaves of time over the big oak & my mind Comforts are not many further there is

Thank You
